

Privacy Disclosures Policy

Safeguarding your data

Laws protecting user privacy such as the European Economic Area's General Data Protection Regulation and other privacy laws that establish various rights for applicable US-state residents impact content publishers, application developers, website visitors, and application users. Currently such regulations apply to specific geographic regions, but publishers and application developers often implement controls that affect the experience of users in all regions.

Zoya Ministries is committed to protecting data confidentiality and security. It is important to understand your privacy options, whether in the role of a donor or a volunteer. This page provides information on data collection and security.

Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy includes important information about your personal data, and we encourage you to read it carefully.

Welcome

We provide financial infrastructure for the internet. Individuals and businesses of all sizes use our technology and services to facilitate purchases, accept payments, send payouts, and manage online businesses.

This Privacy Policy ("Policy") describes the Personal Data we collect, how we use and share it, along with details on how you can reach out to us with privacy-related inquiries. Additionally, the Policy outlines your rights as a data subject and choices you have, including the right to object to certain usages of your Personal Data by us. For further information about our privacy practices, including our Supplemental U.S. Notice.

In this Policy, "Zoya", "we", "our," or "us" refers to the Zoya Ministries entity responsible for the collection, use, and handling of Personal Data as described in this document. Depending on your jurisdiction, the specific entity accountable for your Personal Data might vary.

“Personal Data” refers to any information associated with an identified or identifiable individual, which can include data that you provide to us, and we collect about you during your interaction with our Services (such as device information, IP address, etc.).

“Services” refer to the products and services provided by Zoya under the Stripe Services Agreement and the Stripe Consumer Terms of Service. This may include devices and applications provided by Stripe. Our “Business Services” are services that we provide to entities (“Partners”) that directly and indirectly provide us with “End Customer” Personal Data in connection with their own business operations and activities. Our “End User Services” are those that provides directly to individuals for their personal use. Collectively, we refer to Sites, Business Services, and End User Services as “Services.”

“Financial Partners” are financial institutions, banks, and other partners such as payment method acquirers, payout providers, and card networks that we partner with to provide the Services.

Depending on the context, “you” might be an End Customer, End User, Representative, or Visitor:

- When you use an End User Service for personal use, such as signing up for Link, we refer to you as an “End User.”

In this Policy, “Transaction Data” refers to data collected and used by Zoya to facilitate transactions you request. Some Transaction Data is Personal Data and may include: your name, email address, contact number, billing and shipping address, payment method information (like credit or debit card number, bank account details, or payment card image chosen by you), merchant and location details, amount and date of purchase, and in some instances, information about what was purchased/donated.
